URICH HIGH SCHOOL

We're loyal to you, Urich High,
We're loyal and true, Urich High
Every pencil and slate is the best in the state,
For they're just for you, Urich High. Rah! Rah!
With our colors of purple and gold,
The love of our school will be told.
In fair or stormy weather,
We'll always stick together.
Three cheers for U. H. S!

We invite you to journey with us through our yearbook and see how we at U.H.S. have worked and played together as we have endeavored to prepare ourselves for a happy and useful life.

Dedication

We, the Senior Class of 1958, and other members of the Annual Staff, wish to dedicate this alumni annual, the tenth yearbook to be edited in our school, to Mrs. Inez Miller Hall, the first graduate of Urich High School. This was in 1895, and she was the only graduate that year.

Mrs. Hall has helped us this year by giving us clippings, information, and pictures for our annual.

She has spent her entire life in our community making friends and being a friend. Always interested in education, she taught in the Urich Schools nine years. She is a shining example of a good citizen in this community. May we all profit by her splendid example.

Bus Drivers

Bill Hunt, Rolla Graham,
L. E. Vann

Through rain, snow, sleet and ice, our bus drivers keep up their faithful job of taking us to and from school. To show our gratefulness to our bus drivers let's be on time when they come for us, and let's give them our wholehearted cooperation in every way.

Mrs. Edith Woirhay^{} and Mrs. Pearl Stewart^{*}, our cooks, have been with us during our four years of high school. With their daily fine, nourishing meals they have provided us energy to carry out the many activities we have engaged in each day. We extend to them many thanks for serving us such fine lunches.

Mr. Paul Moya, who is the custodian, has done a splendid job in taking care of our school this year. We can tell by looking through our school building that he takes great interest in keeping it neat and clean for us. To show our appreciation of his work let's help our custodian keep our school neat.

THE TIGER'S TALE

Once upon a time to the kingdom of Urich there came a powerful tigress, who was the undisputed Queen of the Jungle. Now Mrs. Newman, the tigress, as she was guardian over thirteen little tiger cubs (Betty Hudson, Ilene Payne, Linda Noland, Nolan Bohrn, Ruth Long, Eleanor Beasley, Wanda Winkler, Janice Ewing, Dorcy Cox, Duane Shulse, Wayne Grimes, Wayne Mouse, and Dixie Emick) decided they should be taught many things. The older cubs of the school, though, would not let these green cubs come in untried. For initiation they made them each dress as a member of the opposite sex. It was fun. School continued until it was decided that "all work and no play makes tiger cubs poor huntsmen." They then gave a barn dance for the older tiger cubs, plus a skating party for themselves. A new little tiger cub named Shirley Davis entered the kingdom. From their number they chose Linda to be their leader and Dixie, assistant leader; while Ilene kept care of their barter equipment and Janice wrote their tale. Those to go to the tiger council were Wayne M. and Betty.

So ended the first year.

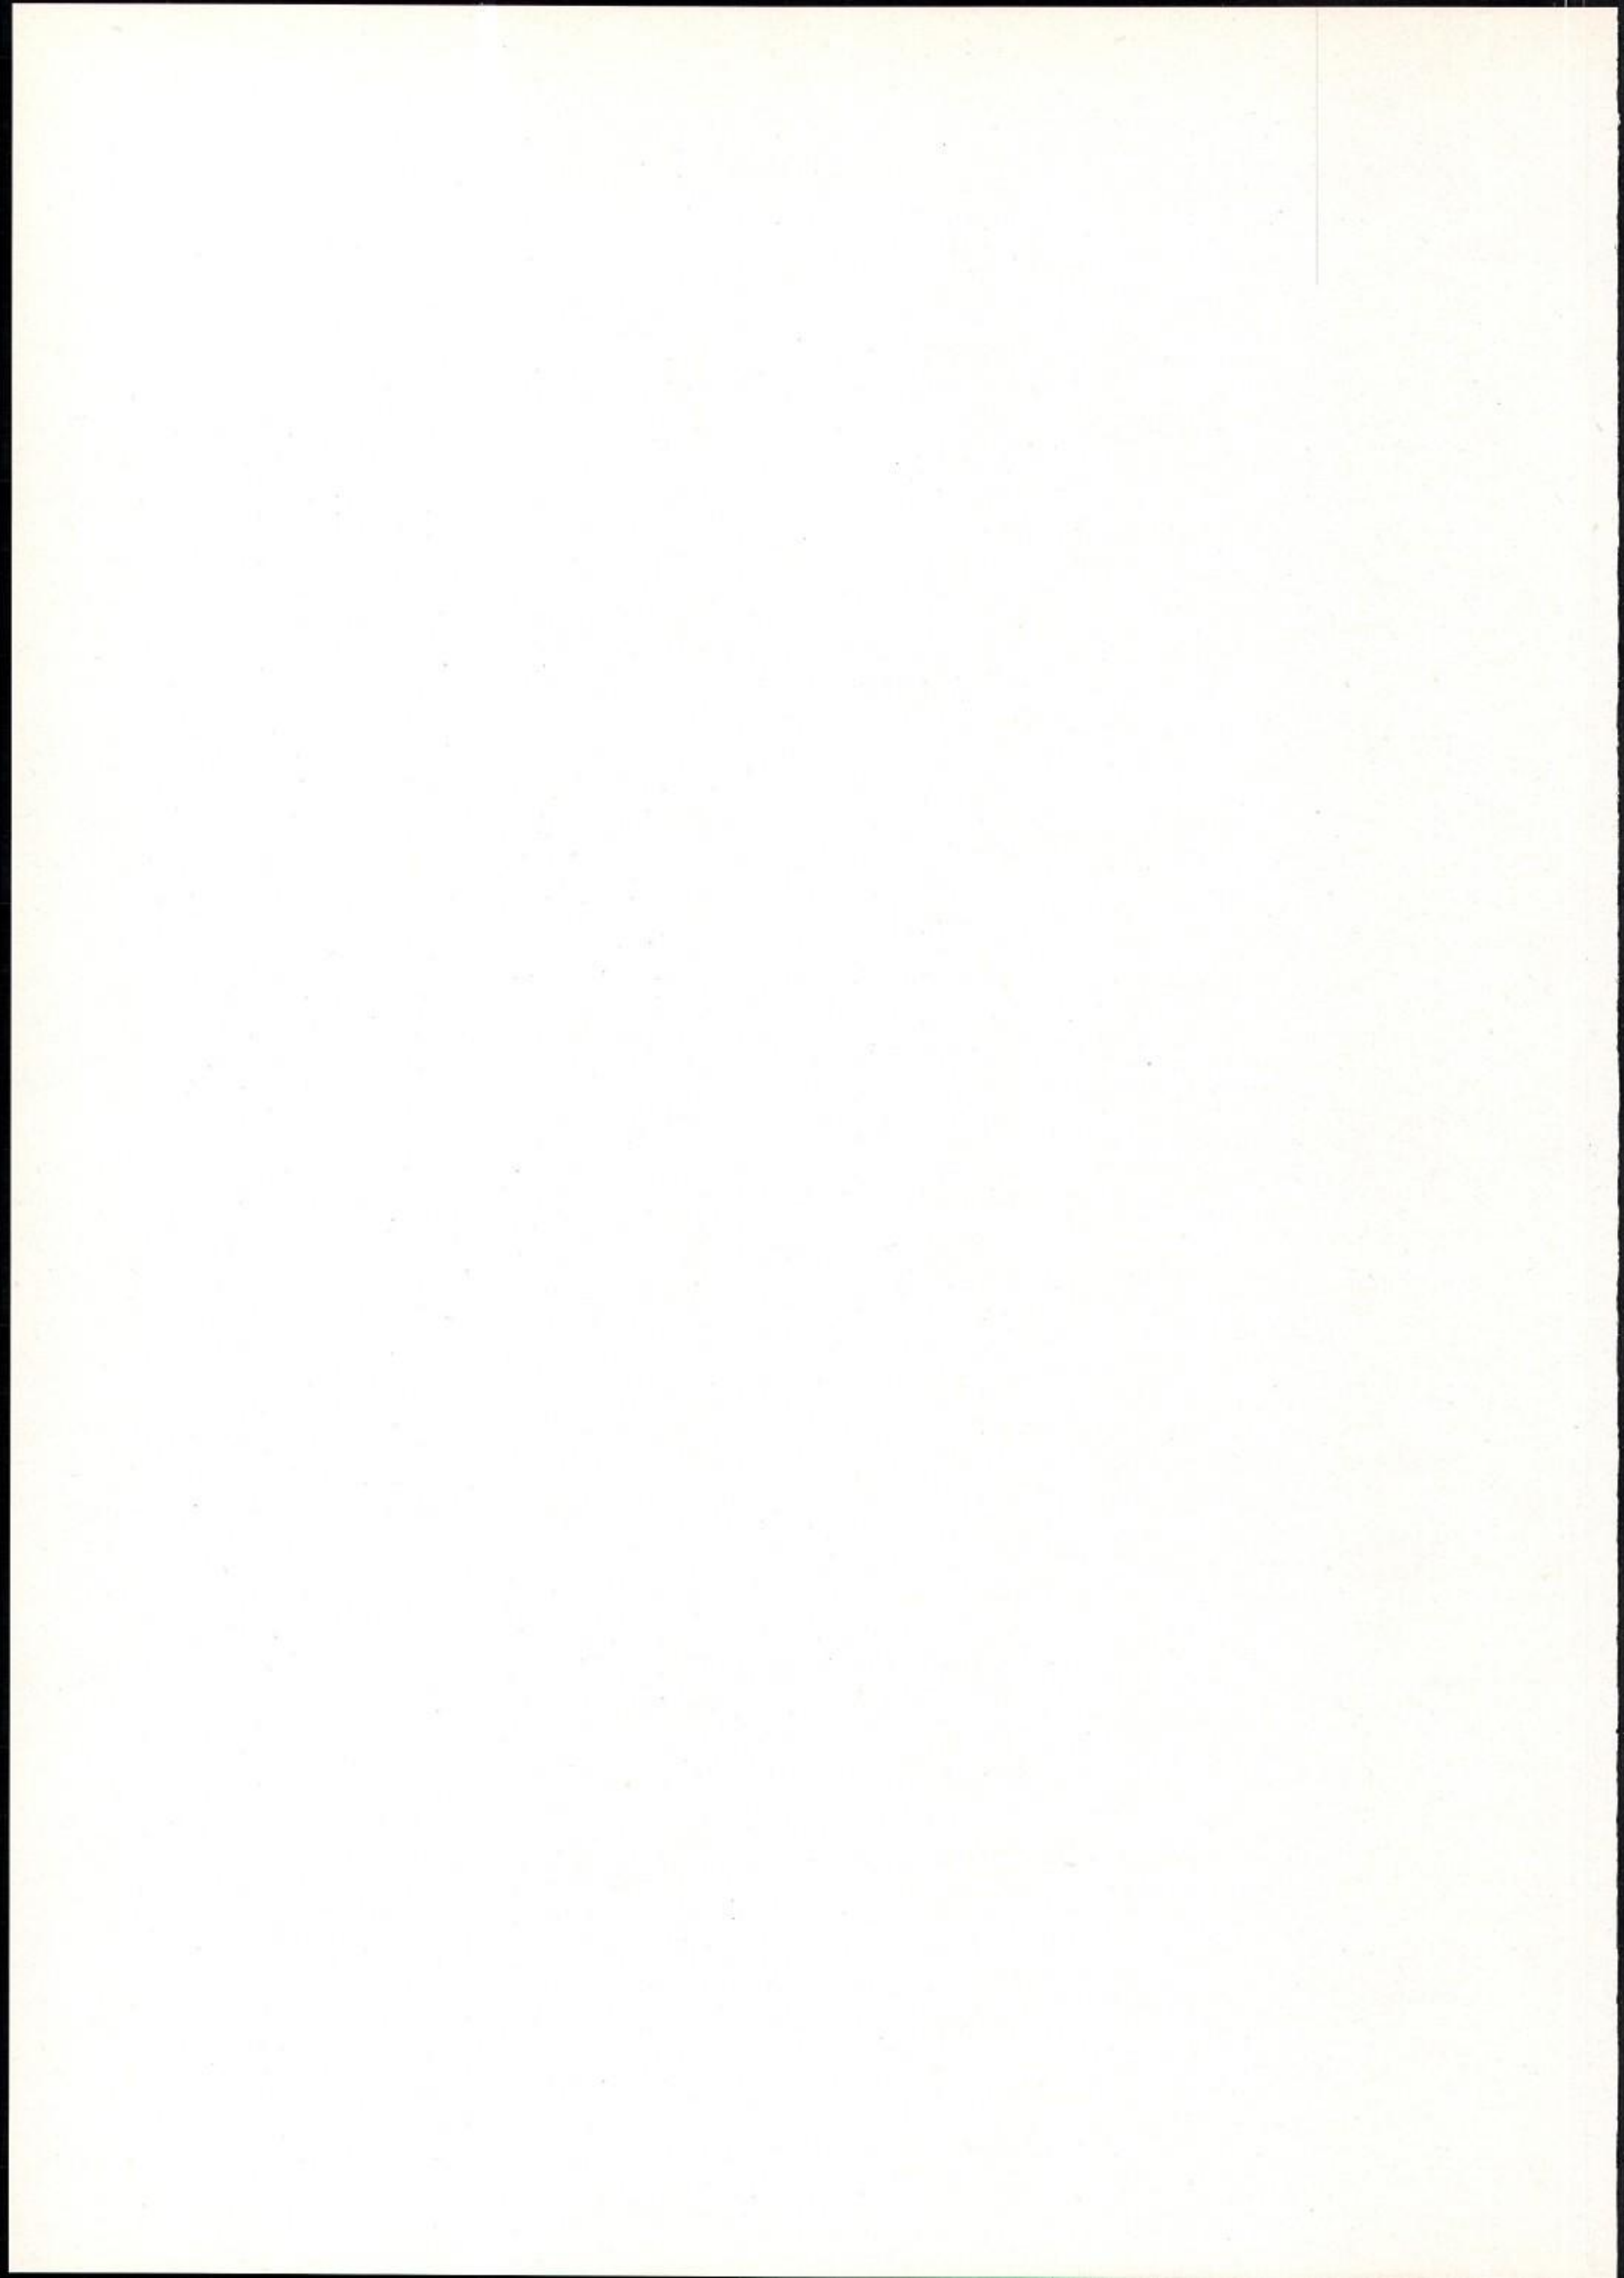

A second year of learning began under a new head, a cunning tigress, Mrs. Long, from the kingdom of Pleasant Hill. They lost one cub (Ilene) and gained one, Avis Hilte from Montrose, Province. During this year they had as entertainment a hay ride, a movie ("Interrupted Melody"), and two skating parties. For this the little tigers gave great thanks. This year three of the kingdom's girls, Linda, Dixie, and Betty, received basketball letters for their bravery in sports. Six of the cubs were asked to serve at the great feast for the Senior cubs. Linda was chosen by the cubs to be candidate for Queen of all Tigers. This second year they saw one of their members, Wayne Mouse, become head cub; with Linda sub-head; Dixie, keeper of great wealth; and Avis was to tell the tale. Those to represent them on tiger's council were Wayne M. and Betty. They were visited briefly by James King.

So ended the second year.

Their third year, they had a new ruler, Maharani Estill. The fierce tiger, Wayne Mouse, truly declared himself King of the Urich Jungle. Linda was first tigress, Wayne G. was to keep track of their different hunts, and Avis was to keep their fur and game. Janice told their tale to the world through Tiger's paper the "Mirror." The representatives of Tiger's council were Duane and Wanda. They started off with a bang by making $130.00 by selling magazines. Then the happy day came when a white man from across the way brought some wares to be bartered. Each cub got a ring with a big 1958 engraved on it. You see they had hopes for their future. Finally they had three one act plays which yielded around $120.00. They then bought a present for the school--a divan and a chair. One little tigerette, Shirley, left but they gained Franklyn Walton and Larry Visentin in her place. Two of the masculine cubs received letters in the game of basketball. They were the two Waynes. Avis Hilte, this year, reigned as Queen of all Basketball Tigers. At the end of their third period of training these cubs gave a huge feast at the Colonial Dinner House for the Senior cubs. "Starlight" was the theme chosen, and all tigers and cubs frisked and feasted happily beneath the twinkling stars.

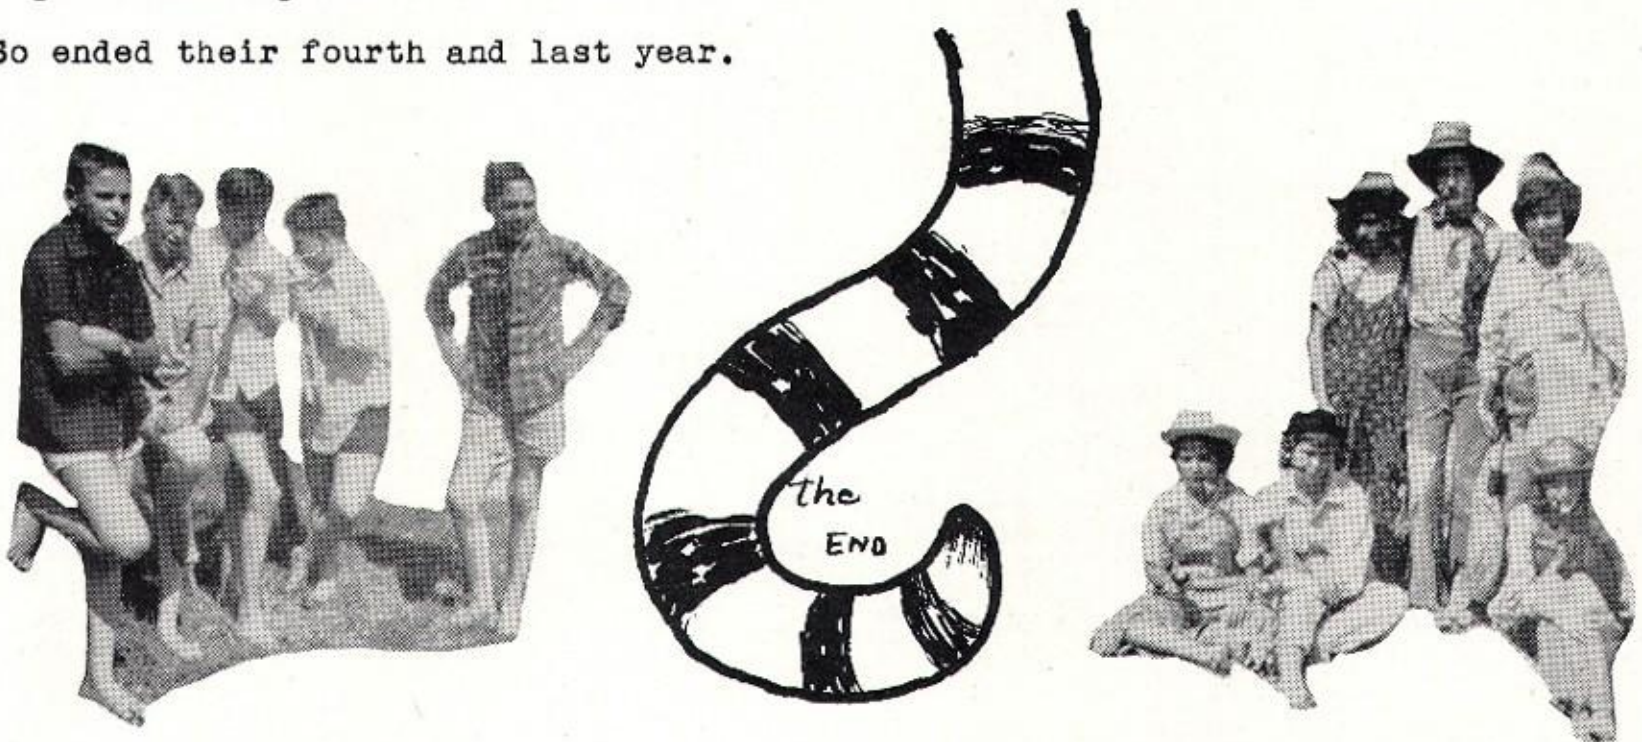

So ended the third year.

Maharajah Teague, and the Good Lady of the Land, Mrs. Lacey, were their supervisors for the fourth year. Two cubs of their den had wandered away during the summer vacation; one, Ruth, to start a den of her own, and Wanda to join another pack. Dixie Johnson came in as a reenforcement but left them for her former den at mid-term. In this fourth and last year, King Mouse ruled supreme, but he had much assistance from Linda, Betty, Avis, and Eleanor. To the Tiger's council roared Wayne Grimes and Eleanor Beasley. As senior cubs they had the pleasure of initiating the green freshman cubs. They made the girl cubs dress as flappers, and the boy cubs were ordered to garb themselves in gunny sacks.

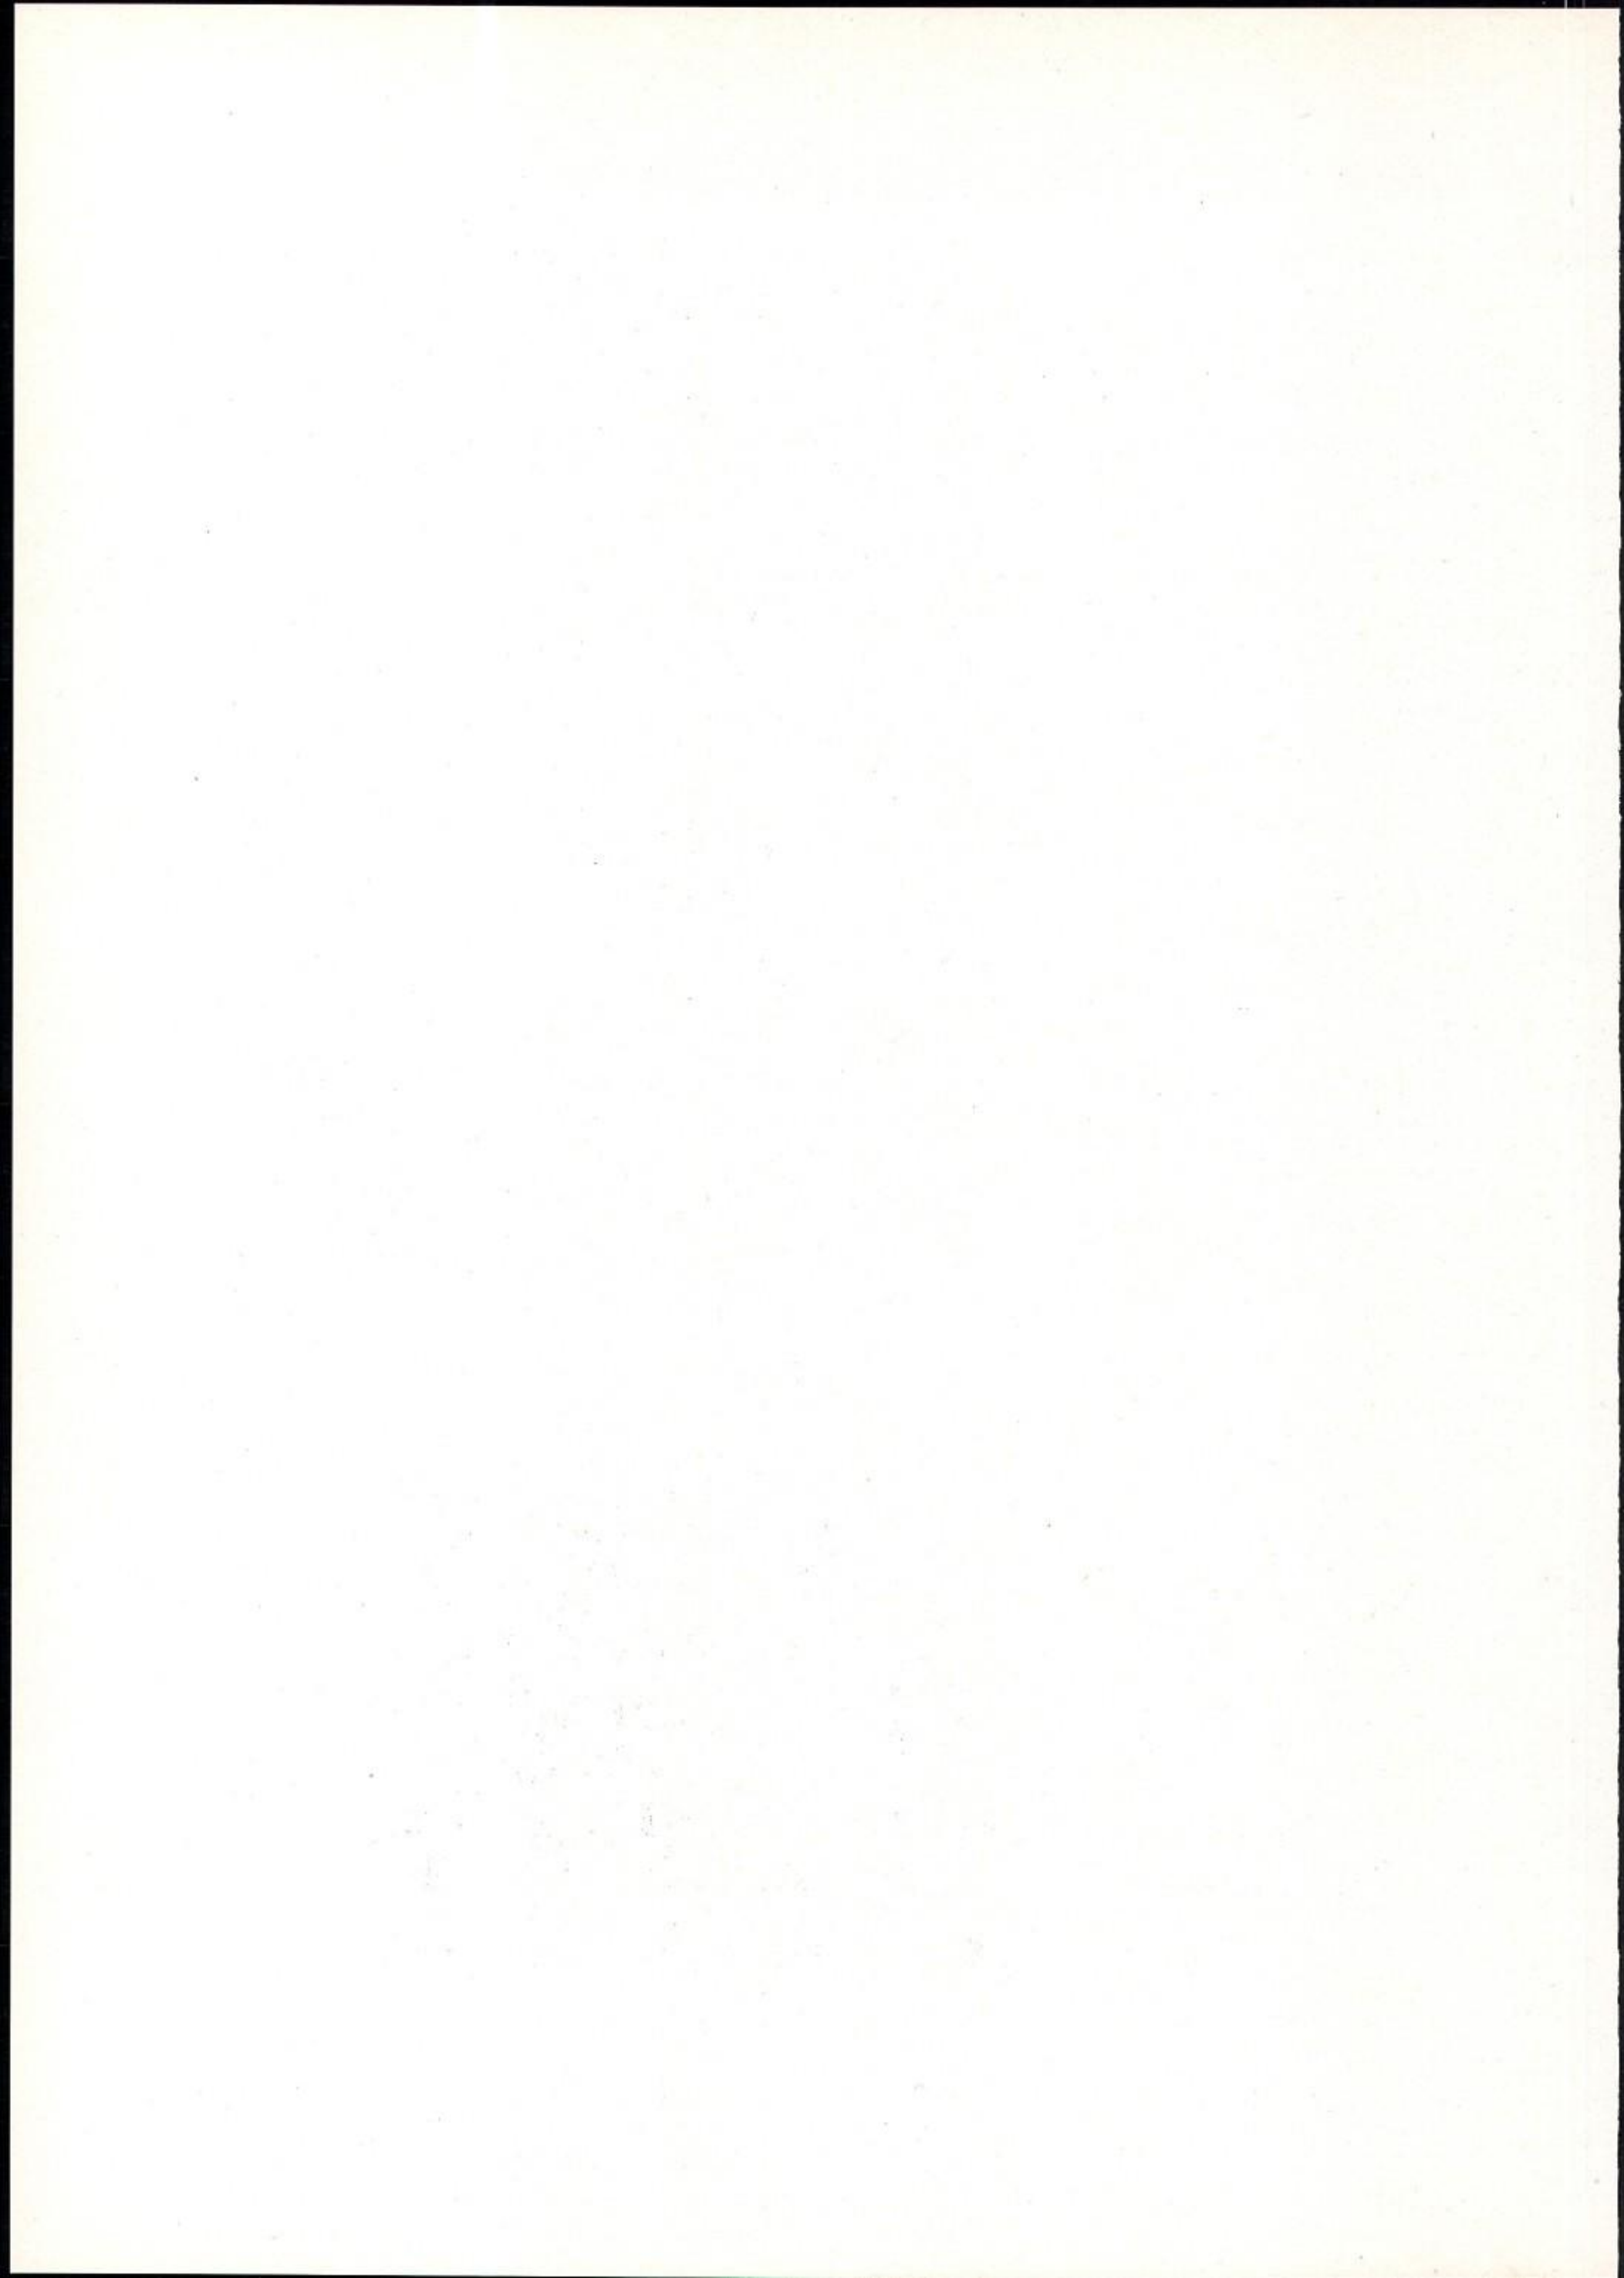

For more fun, they had a combination hay ride and skating party early in the school year. Then in December they had their senior pictures taken and began talking about graduation. During the basketball season they dragged in much barter stuff by serving refreshments to the masses of spectators who came to see the Tigers and Tigerettes crunch their many opponents. Their skip day was enjoyable and exciting--not one cub snarled during the entire day. They trekked over hill and dale and climbed fire towers. At one stop they went through Bridal Cave. They feasted at Lake of the Ozarks State Park, and stumbled through Bagnall Dam. Then these cubs, still ready for action, raced to the largest Temple in the land of Missouri, Jefferson City capitol building. They looked at all the old relics and antique weapons. From there they wrangled and tussled and finally decided to go to Sedalia, to see some moving pictures. After this they hot-footed it home. All the cleverness drilled into them by their various trainers came to their assistance when they presented their class play and it was a "howling success." The Junior cubs gave them a lovely banquet which they appreciated very much. Their May first trip to South Missouri repaid them fully, all agreed, for having spent so many hours sweating over dreary books. The crowning day came, however, when each happy, half-grown, educated cub donned cap and gown and padded softly across the stage to seize the great award--his high school diploma.

So ended their fourth and last year.

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

Excerpts from Janice's Diary----July 3, 2000 A.D.

Dear Diary,

Linda and her husband came to visit us at our penthouse, and while watching television we were amazed to see several members of our graduating class on the set.

The first one of our old classmates to be interveiwed by Ed Burrow was a famous singer, Nolan Bohrn. Nolan said that he was very happy in his career and that he had just received his tenth gold record. Nolan sings "Rock an' Roll" but everyone is predicting that it is only a phase and that it will soon pass away.

Next on the program were those two famous pilots, Wayne Grimes and Franklyn Walton. They had just broken the record for the fastest trip to Mars. We recalled that while we were in High School records were being broken for trips across the U.S. Times have changed!

The program was interrupted for a special message by the head of Dairy Incorporated, Wayne Mouse. Wayne had started out in the dairy business soon after graduation from college and is now owner of one of the largest dairies in the universe.

After "People to People" came the show "This is Your Wife". This week's nomination for the Best Wife and Mother was Eleanor (Beasley) Love. Eleanor looked radiantly happy and we hurridly sent a telegram to congratulate her on her success. To make a successful home is still important even in this day of space travel, satellites, and atomic energy.

Linda switched channels and we listened to a report from the Commander of the Space Force, Ronnie Smith. Ronnie had joined the service when he was graduated from Urich High, then later he had gone to the Space Force Academy, and was now a pretty important guy. We recalled how good an organizer he had been in school.

July 4----Dear Diary,

Today while I was down town I happened to stop by the lecture hall and there was Dorcy Cox giving a reading on the importance of peace and the meaning of Independence. After the program I was pleased to be on hand when Dorcy was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize for outstanding aid in Inter-Planetary Relations.

Linda brought over a copy of the Times and we looked at the stock quotations. This is a habit acquired during our senior high school days when we studied common stocks in Mr. Teague's American Problems Class. Dixie Emick had an article in the paper about the finicial condition of American Telephone and Telegraph. Since Dixie is the controlling stockholder of the company, she really makes those tycoons on Wall Street sit up and take notice.

July 5----Dear Diary,

Linda and I are in Paris to attend the Fashion Designing Convention. Today we met Betty Hudson who is a world famous model and engaged her to help us stage our Fashion Show in Venus City, Venus.

While in Paris we visited the American Embassy and were glad to get the chance to see Duane Shulse, our ambassador to France. Duane said that he liked his work but that without the help of Avis Hilde, his secretary, he could never get anything done. Avis always could get along with everyone, and I guess that she has completely captivated the French people with her winning ways. Also, I might add she's captivated Johnny I., too.

July 6----Dear Diary,

Our husbands took us out for dinner and to the show tonight and in the newsreel we were amazed to see Dixie Johnson, who is now a foreign correspondent with the Inter-Planetary News Service.

All of these classmates of yesterday have great cause to be proud as they have all achieved their goals, and so have Linda and I. We are designers of the latest fashions. Our company is called "Wing-Nol, Fashions With A Flair.". However, most important to us, we are both happily and successfully married and have very lovely families. Even though success has come, still I recall the times when I was in school, as I'm sure that all the rest do too. Now I see the ways in which the teachers tried to help us and how some of their efforts paid off, and how, some however, were unheeded. I think, being teachers that they understood that although we seemed ungrateful at the time we all would later in life realize and appreciate all that they had done for us. Since it's not the money, that must be the reason why people want to become teachers.

CLASS WILL

We, the Senior Class of Ulrich High School of 1958, being adjudged by incompetent authorities as being totally unsound in mind as well as in body, hereby make this last will and testament to the underclassmen of Ulrich High School. The following are our last bequests:

To the Seniors of 1959, we leave the pleasure of initiating the freshmen and of taking a skip day, if you can get it. Also, to the '59 Seniors we leave the privilege of working in the kitchen at ball-games plus all the income, worry, and grief it will bring.

I, Eleanor Beasley, leave my long hair to Deana Doll. This means lots of work, Deana.

I, Duane Shulse, leave my shortness to that tiny Sophomore, Billy Kelsay.

I, Janis Ewing, leave-----I hope.

I, Franklin Walton, leave my gum under a desk for the lucky Senior who finds it next year.

I, Dixie Johnson, leave my ability to get along with the teachers to that quiet sane girl of the freshman class, Sheryl Emick.

I, Dorcy Cox, leave my ability to eat in class without getting caught to that "chewing" Sophomore, Lloyd Brown.

I, Dixie Emick, leave my sweet smile and my ability to play basketball to Barbara Moles. Good luck, Barb!

I, Nolan Bohrn, leave my seat in studyhall, with all my favorite girl's initials and all my old bubblegum on it, to Philip Cook.

I, Avis Hilte, leave my ability to stay out of trouble to Jerry Graham. What a break!

I, Ronnie Smith, leave my forgetfulness to a wit in the Junior class, Ronnie Wehmeyer.

I, Betty Hudson, leave as soon as possible---Bewitched, Bothered, and Bewildered.

I, Wayne Mouse, leave my ability to play hookey to Larry Barnett. Gee, what luck, Larry!

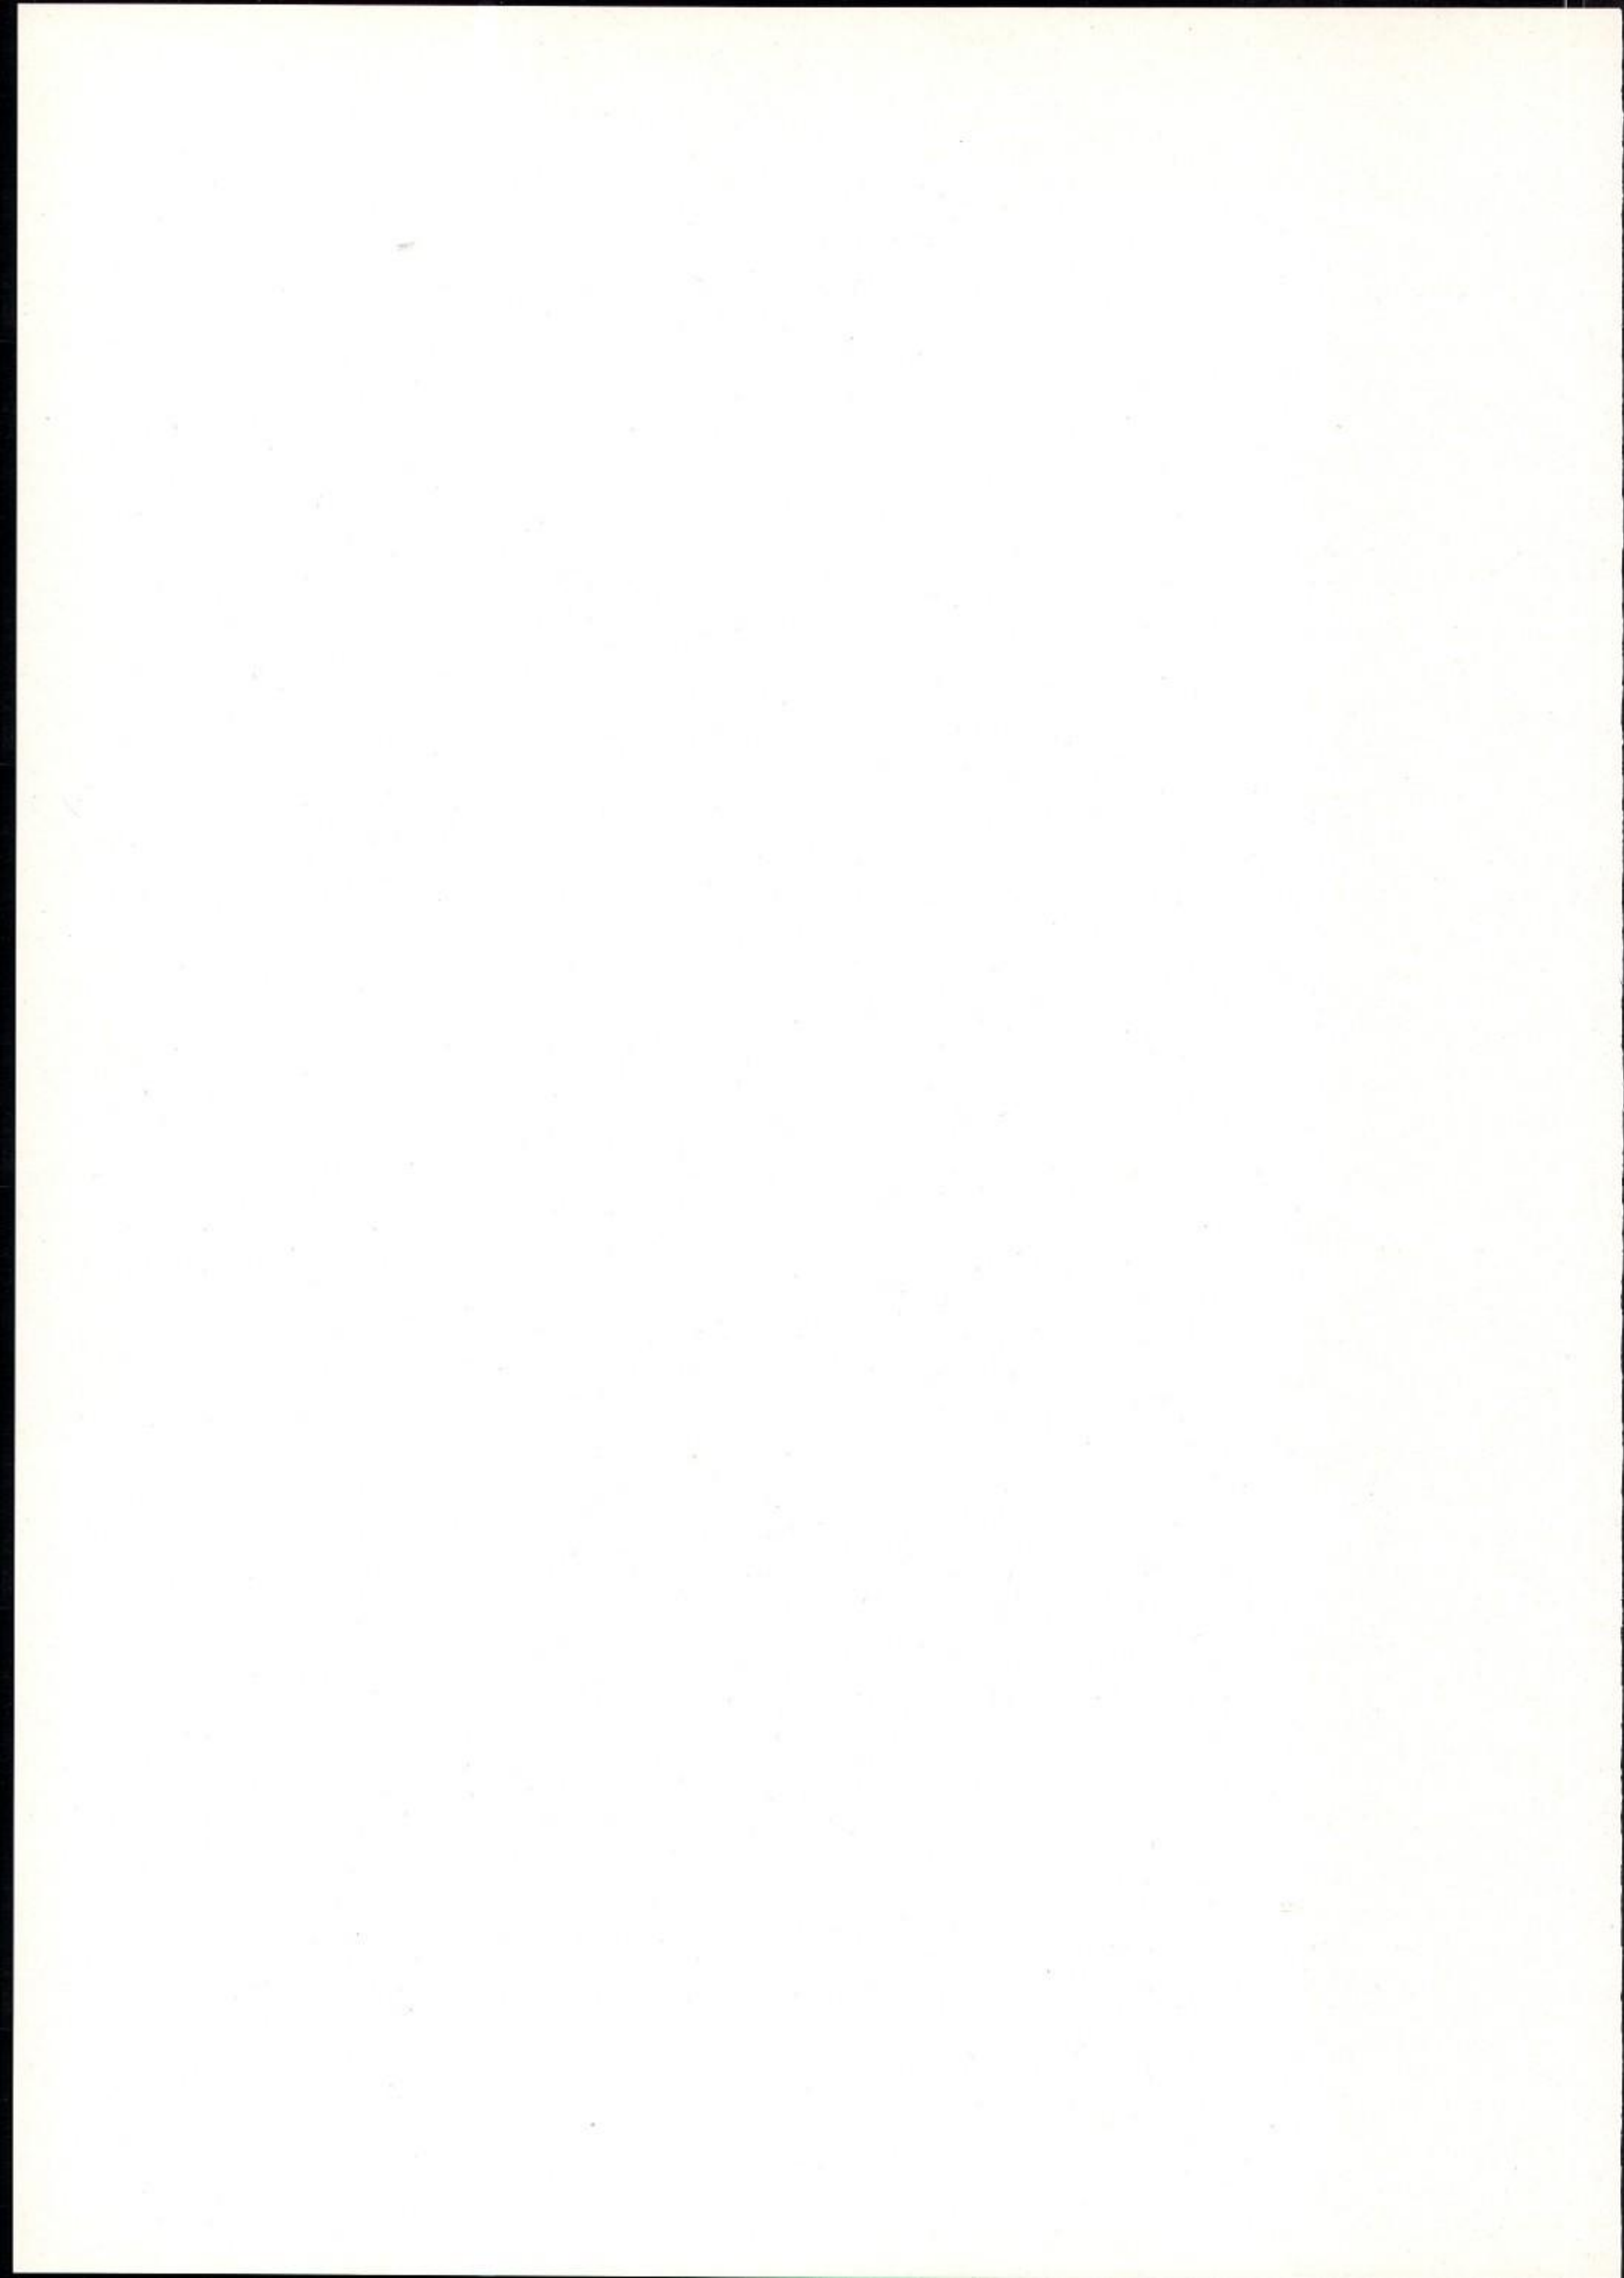

I, Linda Noland, leave my ability to be so loud and make so much noise cheerleading to Nancy Hall.

I, Wayne Grimes, would leave something, but I'm not quite sure I'm leaving.

A TREASURE HUNT

In the Gray dawn of an autumn day the Urich Sophomores, 1957-'58, several in disguise, set out for Maupin bird hill to dig for treasure reported to have been buried when the country was Young.

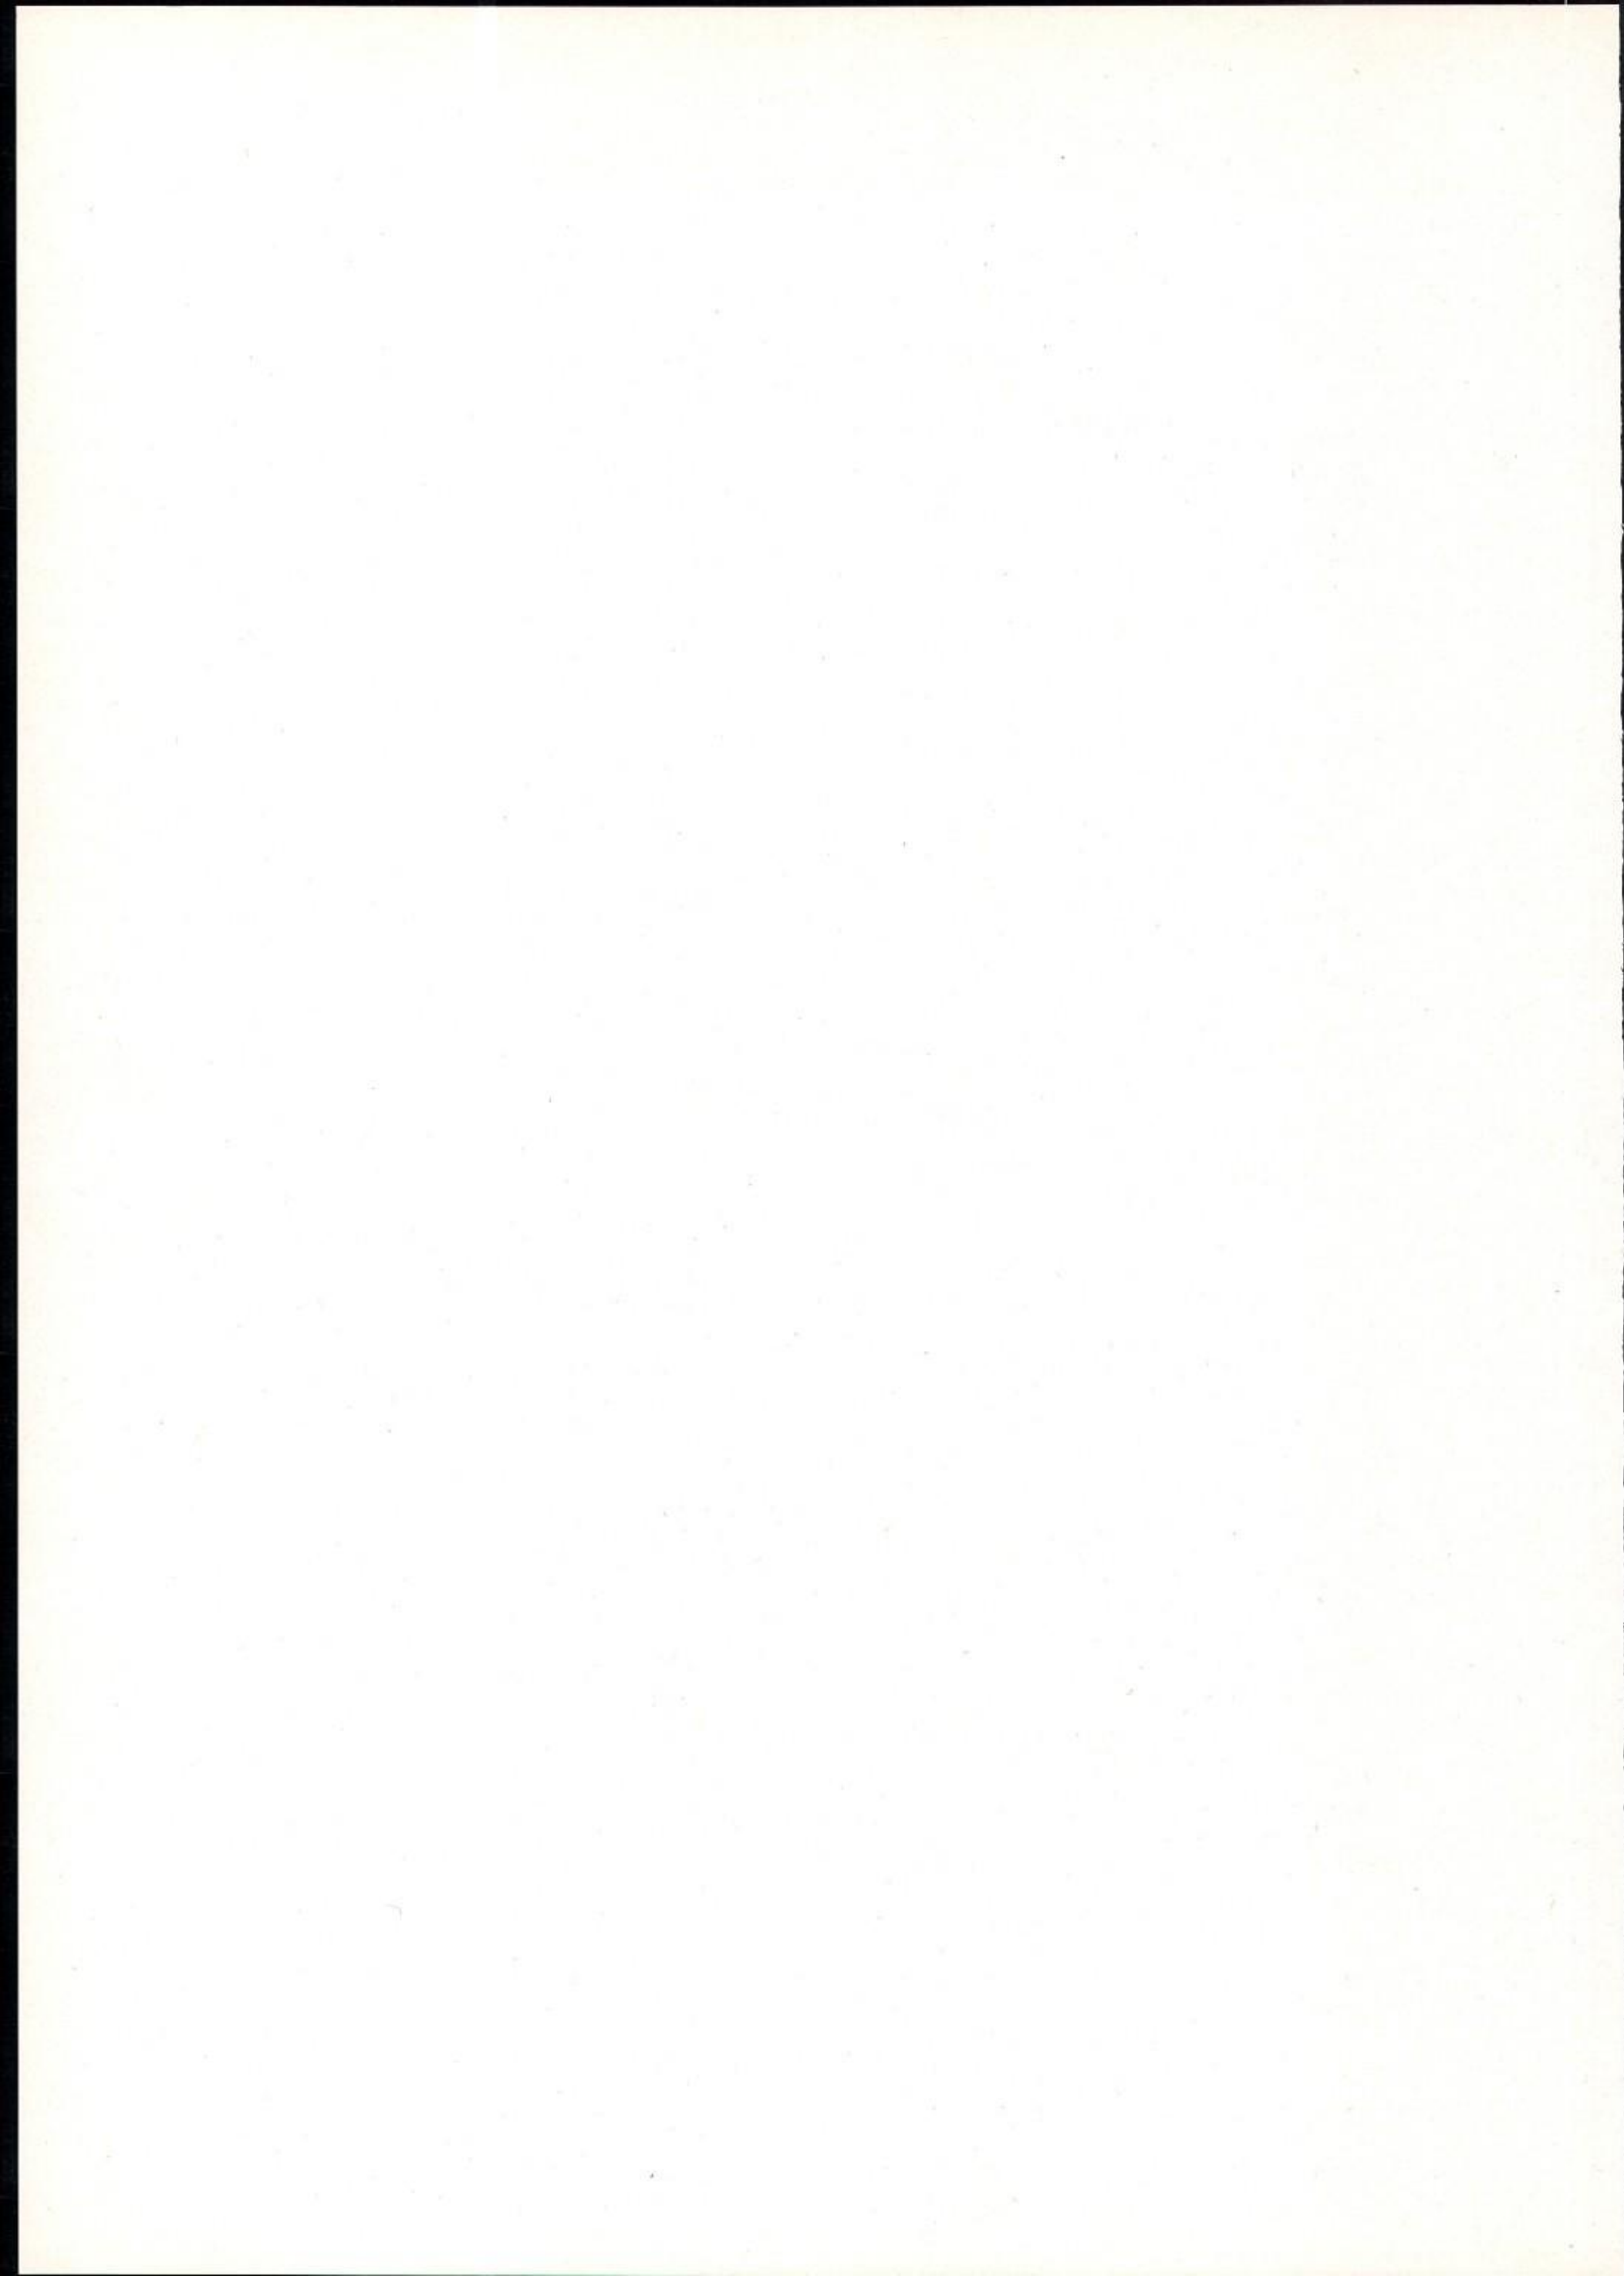

They clambered upward for hours determined to die Er-win. The higher they climbed the spookier their surroundings and when they looked up in the branches and saw a Gra-ham hanging there, they dashed wildly onward. Some of them came to Græf on the sharp rocks which left Marks-berry plainly to be seen on their tender flesh. They were so battered and bruised that they decided to go no further but to start digging right there.

Billy and Jerry Lee took turns digging and R. D. carried water and fanned them as they labored. Suddenly Billy fell in a swoon as his spade struck a Chest-er something. It was the treasure!!

Down the hill the joyous troupe hastened. As they passed the little Brown church in the wildwood, Jerry Lee's eyes took on a new gleam; he seized Patsy by the arm, led her past De-pews and to the altar of the rustic building. Although rather surprised, Patsy agreed to the marriage, but insisted, "If you don't treat me right I'll Maup-in polish the floor and Sue you besides!" Thus this exciting and unusual "Treasure Hunt" ended.

SPORTS NEWS

The Urich and Creighton Tigerettes again battle for the first place trophy in the final game of the Garden City Tournament. The Urich girls fought hard and led during most of the game, but in the fourth quarter the Creighton Tigerettes slowly pulled ahead to win by a score of 48-50. Sandra Erwin was the top scorer for Urich with 21 points. Linda McDonald followed with 14 points and Nettie Toalson scored 13. Rebounds and percentages were nearly the same for both teams. Although we can't say we were happy about losing, we are very proud of our beautiful trophy.

History of the Urich School District

In 1885 when the town of Urich was laid out, this school district belonged to the Old Urich or Enterprise District.

When it became necessary to organize a Urich school district, it was a strip of land six miles long by $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles wide lying along the north side of Grand River.

A little later 160 acres of the Wright addition north-west of the town site and 65 acres of the Oak Grove school district were added to the Urich school district.

At first, Urich had no school building. The first school was taught in a frame building just west of the lumber yard by a man named Murphy. The second was taught by B. N. Stewart in a building west of the Urich Bank.

The first three directors were: Dr. John Fowers, T. W. Wells, and T. B. Littlejohn.

In 1887, bonds for $1200 were voted to build a school house. A two story brick building of two rooms, one above the other, was built. This was located in the north-west part of town on what is now Mrs. Inez Hall's south yard. The lower room was used for school and the upper room was occupied by the Masonic Lodge.

Miss Minnie Single Poynter taught here for two years. Then the entire building was used with two teachers--E. F. Gould and Miss Ida Smith, followed by L. J. Matlock and Miss Florence Page (who later became Mrs. Matlock.)

Six directors were elected in 1890. Professor E. M. Hall and Miss Lou Gaines then taught two years. Professor Hall graded the school according to the state requirements in 1893.

In 1895, the school board granted a diploma to the first high school graduate, Miss Inez Miller. The school, at this time, consisted of freshman, sophomore, and junior studies.

The school enumeration had increased and a new building was needed.

In 1896, the district voted a bond for $5000 which was the bonded limit at that time for a village the size of Urich. The plan and purpose was to build a four room brick building with a full basement on the present school site. However, it was soon found that the amount voted would build only a frame building of four rooms with an unfinished basement.

While this frame building was being completed, Superintendent E. M. Hall taught grades 7-8-9-10 in the upper room of the old brick building. Miss Leona Knaus taught grades 4-5-6 in the United Brethren Church which stood where W. H. Erwin's home now stands. Miss Inez Miller taught grades 1-2-3 in the lower room of the brick building. By taking two week's vacation at Christmas, the building was occupied in January 1898, mid-term.

The third year of high school was added in 1898, and the fourth year in 1922. From a graduating class of one in 1895, the school enrollment had grown so much that in 1922, eleven pupils were granted diplomas. This was the first graduating class to finish in the new brick building.

The first eighth grade graduation exercise was held in 1902.

In 1921, bonds for $18,000 were voted to build the present building. The board members at this time were: R. E. McDonald, president, J. B. Coolidge, J. M. Clark, J. E. Stewart, A. D. Johnson and J. E. Sims.

The building committee was J. E. Stewart and W. H. Erwin. The harmony between the school board and the building committee is shown in the fact that this building was begun and completed in the same year.

As soon as school closed that spring, the old building was torn down. Nothing was wasted! About $5000 worth of material was realized from the salvage. Mary Fostabend was the superintendent at this time, and did much to encourage the patrons in building the new school.

Classes were held at the park when school began in September. When the weather became too cool for out-door classes, they moved to the churches and lodge halls until about the first of December when the building was ready for use. J. R. Cope was superintendent of the school at that time.

The first P.T.A. was organized at the park in 1921 and continued a flourishing organization for several years. It was discontinued later, however, and was not reorganized until in the fall of 1947. Since then, it has been very active in promoting any improvements needed by the school. Our public address system, installed in the spring of 1957, was a gift of our P.T.A.

As the years passed, more subjects were offered and more teachers employed.

Caps and gowns were first used by the 1926 graduating class, but not until 1937 did they become a permanent attire for the U.H.S. graduates.

Realizing the importance of exercise, the school board in 1936 purchased, for additional playground space, a lot west of the northwest part of the original school grounds. This lot, which cost only fifty dollars, has provided a satisfactory ball diamond for the grade pupils. It was also used by the high school until May 1, 1951 when a ten acre area east of the school building was purchased for $1,900 and made into a splendid ball diamond.

At first all ball games, even basketball, had to be played outside, but finally the Crump Theater building was rented for basketball practice and games. Since the present spacious gymnasium has been in use, physical education and basketball have become more important to the school and more popular with both the students and the community than ever before.

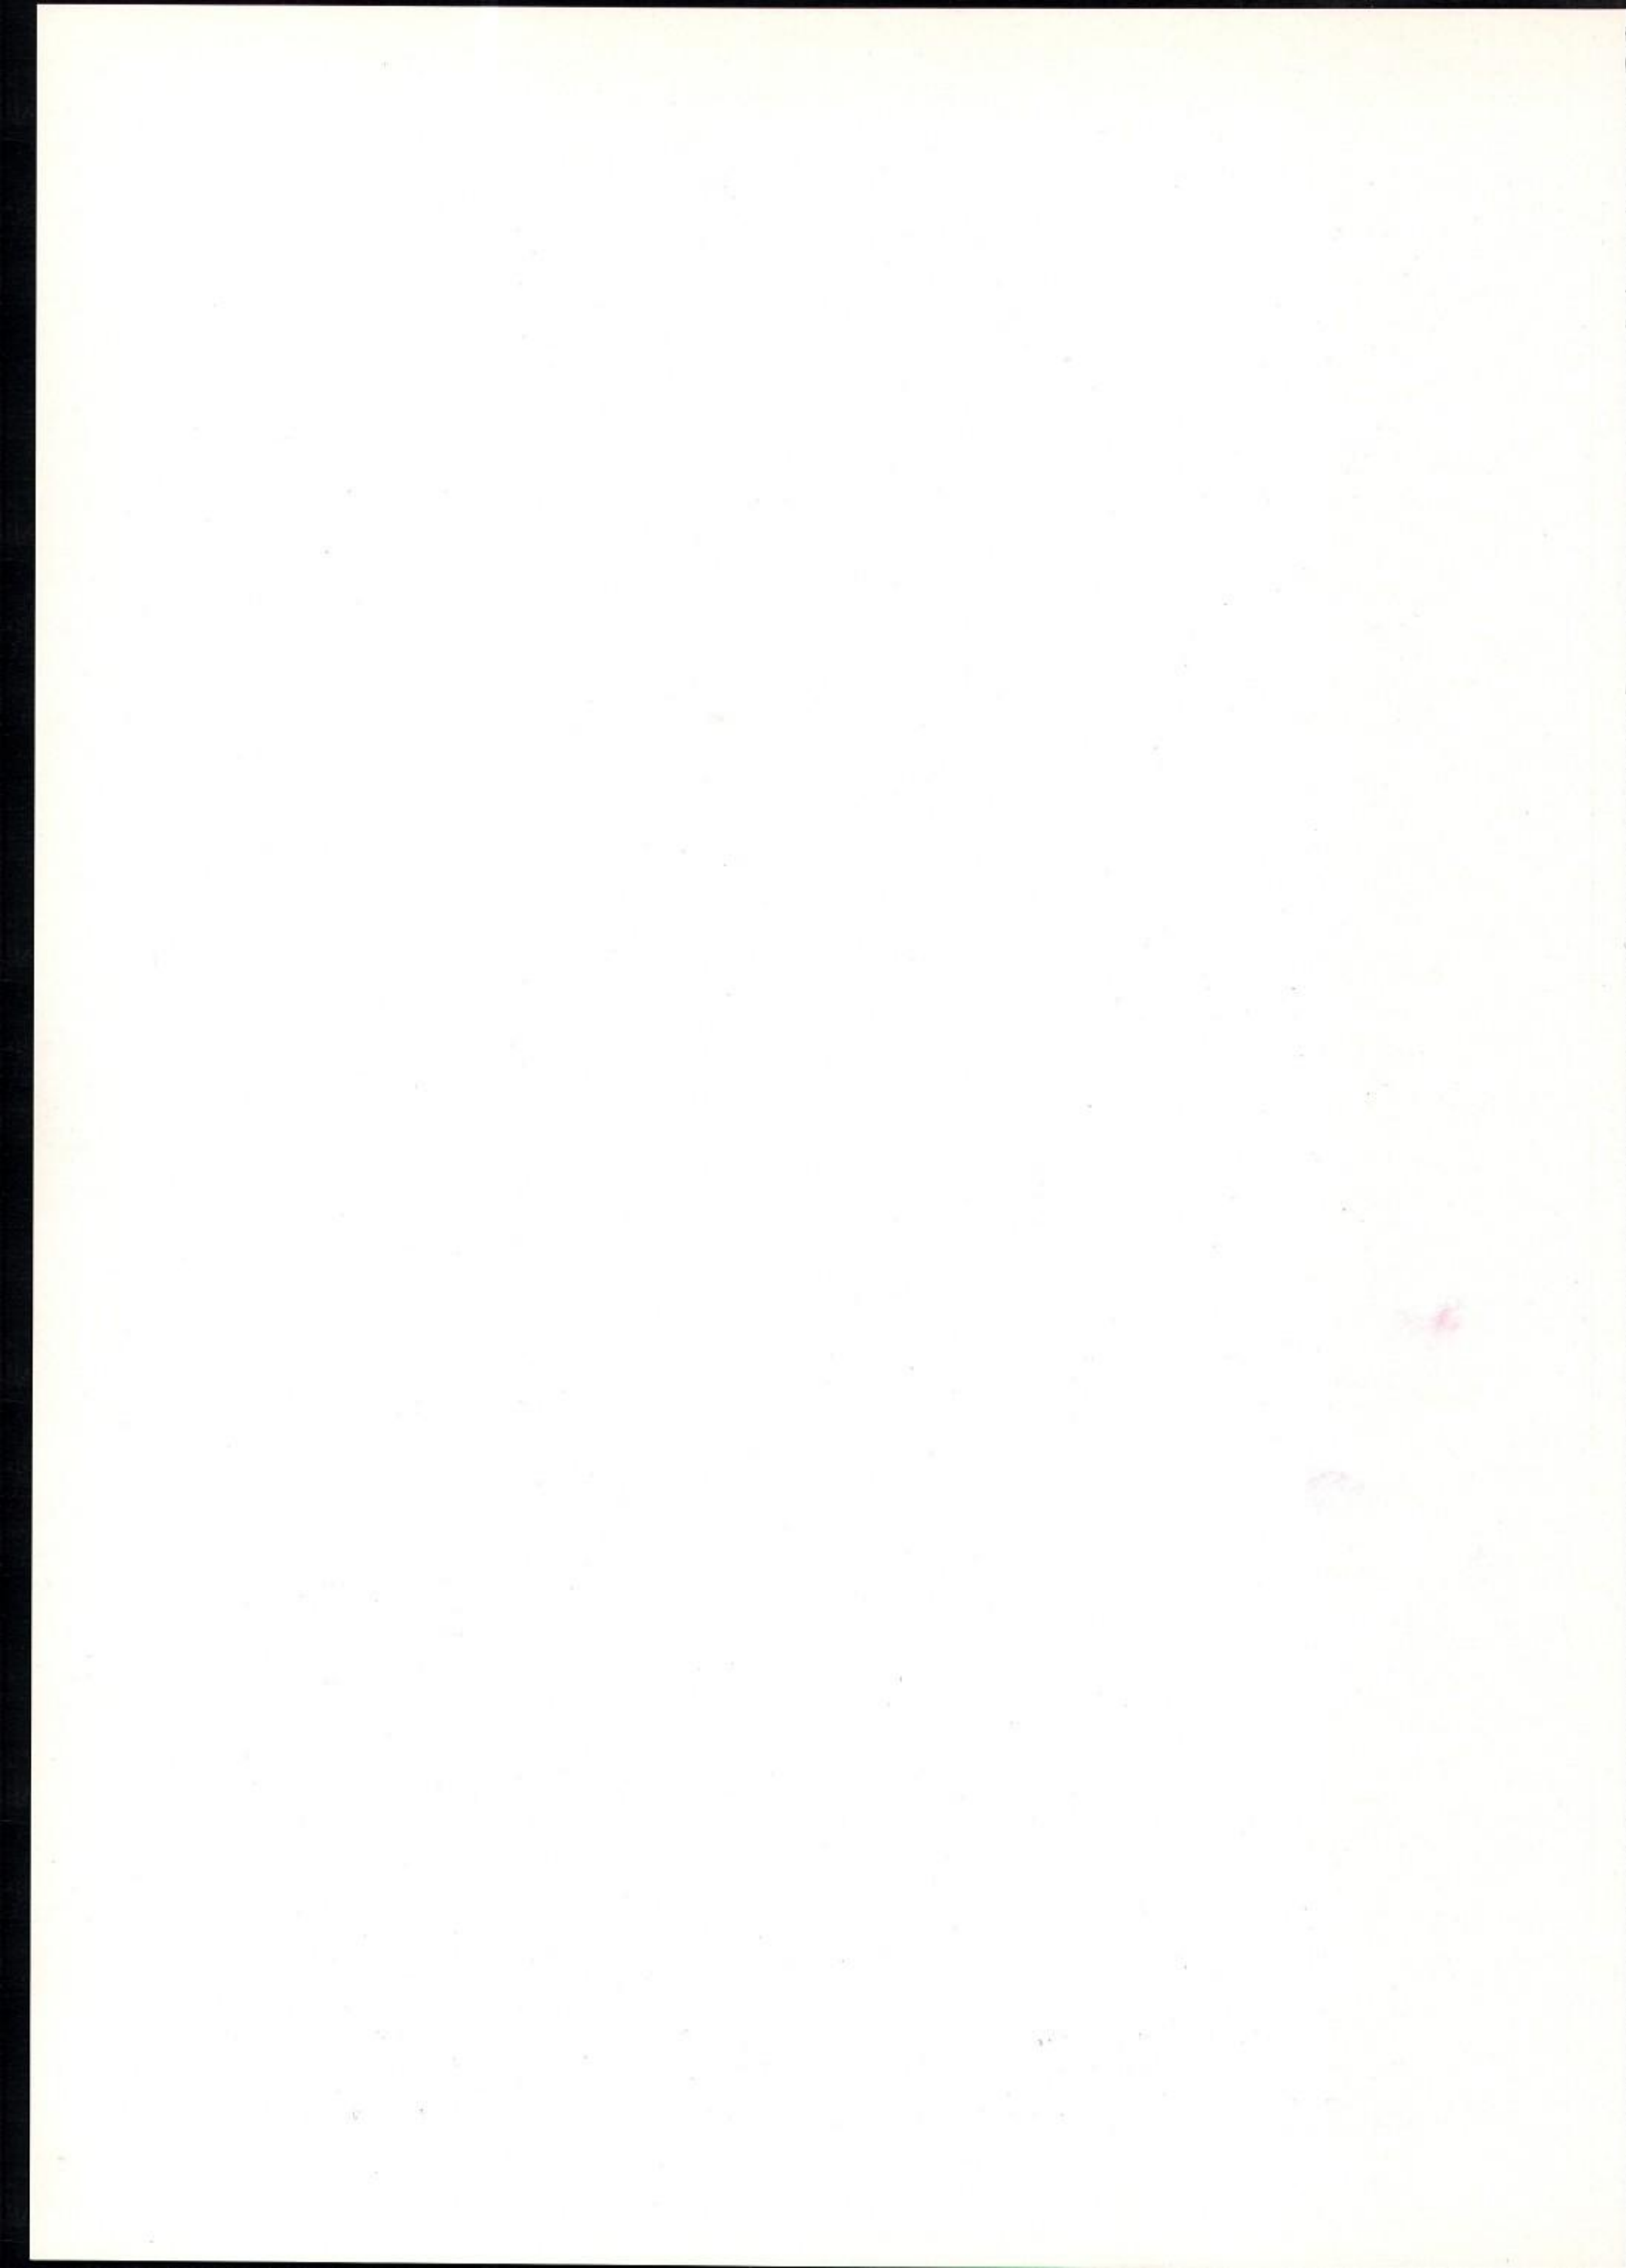

In 1946 a county library was established and with it came the bookmobile service which so adequately supplements the reading material provided by the school.

The first Urich High School Annual, named the "Tigerette" was edited just ten years ago, in 1948. Since then, each senior class has edited a yearbook.

By the late 1940's, the Urich School was again having "growing pains." In November, 1949, seven school districts surrounding Urich; Lucas, Hickory Grove, Maple Grove, Hartwell, Enterprise, Oak Grove, and Cornett voted to consolidate with Urich and form the present Urich R-6 District. The board of education at this time consisted of Richard Dunn, Wilbur Barth, Guy Galbreath, Rolla Graham, Ralph Kelsay, and W. L. McDonald, president. Frank Erwin was clerk.

The Hartwell School operated one year, and the Lucas School two years during the transition from one room rural to the consolidated unit. Three busses were used to transport pupils to the central school in Urich.

Before all pupils of R-6 could be adequately accommodated in the central school, more space was needed, so an election was held June 26, 1951, and bonds of $70,000 were voted to be used in enlarging the school building. John Hartley was superintendent at this time. The addition, consisting of a large auditorium-gymnasium, four class rooms, a large kitchen, large hall, two dressing rooms, and two large rest rooms was ready for occupancy when the school opened in September of 1952. A large new furnace had been installed to provide warmth for the entire building. A very nice double room in the old building was now available for the home economic classes. This department had been added to the curriculum in 1949. The new kitchen made possible the school lunch program which has proved so beneficial to both pupils and teachers.

The R-6 faculty in 1952 had ten full-time teachers and a part-time music instructor.

The next curriculum addition was an industrial arts department in 1945-1946. This work has become very popular with the boys of the school.

At present, the Urich faculty consists of nine full-time teachers and three part-time teachers. There are one hundred twenty-five elementary and seventy-one high school pupils. Our school is classed an "A" school under the Missouri School Classification.

In addition to the faculty and the board of education, we have three bus drivers, two cooks, and our custodian--each contributing in his way to the success of our school.
